FEBRUARY 2021

From The Rector

Rev. Catherine Tatem

I invite you to a holy Lent

Each year in our life together we hear this invitation. We might reply with the words that the early crowds posed to John the Baptizer –

“What then shall we do? (Luke 3.10)”

In a time of great trial, how do we honor and live a holy Lent? We are invited to prayer, fasting, and almsgiving. Our prayer lives might be faltering from this long season of pandemic and quarantine – a time of unbidden, unwelcomed changes, illness, and sorrow. We ask: how do we pray? From what shall we fast? Who is it who needs our alms, the fruits of our labors, at this point in time?

I offer us a new question for Lent, 2021:

What then, is God doing in my life and how then shall I live?

God is not absent, but acting even now, as God was in Lent of 2020. Lent is a very good time to examine what God is doing in our lives and to notice how we are responding. We have learned lament. We have carried hope and the light of Christ without interruption – even when the light of Christ that we carried seemed quite dim, that very light brought someone out of darkness. God is present. How then shall I live?

With hope and careful practices, we will lighten or lessen our fast from in-person worship beginning Sunday, February 14, 2021. Service signup is available through The Church of the Redeemer's website, www.corpsc.org or by contacting the office. Our “best as we know them” safety protocols will continue: wearing a mask indoors, spacing ourselves, and not filling the pews to the rafters – oh, to do that again! A full church will definitely be an Easter time for us, whenever that might happen.

In the meantime, practice a holy Lent. Pray, fast, and give alms. Become a lector, an usher, a member of the Altar Guild or our card ministry. You are invited to a renewed holiness, an innovative Lent, asking, as a community,

What then, is God doing in my life? How then shall I live?

*In Christ
